FOUR MEMBERS MISSING FROM COUNCIL MEET

COUNCILMAN John Catlin once again protected his record for never having missed a council meeting by holding down the fort alone Wednesday evening, when none of the other council members appeared for the announced adjourned regular meeting. After waiting for half an hour after the meeting hour, and looking up the law on the subject, Mr. Catlin solemnly adjourned the meeting, setting the next session as Nov. 6, the regular monthly meeting.

Chiefly disappointed at the failure of the council to convene were the group of road machinery salesmen, who have beaten a trail to Carmel by their frequent visits, beginning last May when the subject of new street equipment first came up. They are in thorough accord that "Carmel is different," stating unofficially that never in their long experience have they run into a situation like the one they have found here. They say that they have been frequently asked to be present at the council meetings, but have never been given an opportunity to talk on the merits of their respective products. "That fellow that writes the Earthworm tractor yarns, he could sure write a good one about this deal!" one of them said Wednesday night.

Two different equipment salesmen stated this week that while it would give them great pleasure to sell a machine costing upward of $4000 to Carmel, their respective companies, and the others in the competition, all make less expensive graders which would serve the purpose here. They seemed skeptical that any of them would ever sell a grader to the city unless the council as a whole, or the finance committee, jointly recommended such action, but they are grimly intent on trying, anyway.

"I've already spent more in trips down here than I'll make in commissions," one of them said, "but you get sort of interested in the thing and you hate to give up as long as there is a chance."

It was anticipated that at this week's meeting the council would authorize the recreation committee to employ an engineer to determine costs of building tennis courts in the sand dunes as a WPA project.

Just why there was no quorum at the council meeting remained a mystery. At the request of Mr. Catlin, City Clerk Saidee Van Brower telephoned Street Commissioner Burge, was told that he was in Monterey. No attempt was made to get in touch with the three other members.

IN BURTON COTTAGE

Don K. Phillips, head of the furniture department at Holman's, has moved into the newly completed Burton cottage at Tenth and Lincoln.

County Tax Bills Increased Despite Promised Slash

A concerted howl arose from Carmel citizens who opened their county tax bills this week. Promised a reduction in real estate taxes, with the rate lowered from $2.63 last year to $1.95 this year, they found the valuations hiked to such an extent that the sum to be paid was in all cases higher, and that the advances in many cases was as much as 50 per cent. The valuations were supposed to be based on one-half the amount that might be realized at a quick sale. However, the amount the county wizards decided might be realized at quick sale was in many cases higher than prices at which Carmel property has been listed for months, for any kind of sale, including payment in potatoes.

Henrietta Shore to Paint Murals

Henrietta Shore, gifted Carmel artist, has been commissioned by the federal government to do four murals for the postoffice in Santa Cruz. This was not the result of a competition, nor was she asked for preliminary sketches, but a direct order from Washington. Miss Shore is now working on preliminary sketches, and as the work will be moveable murals, rather than frescoes, she will be able to do the painting in her Carmel studio. This interesting task will occupy her until June. The subjects will deal with the industries of Santa Cruz county.

In the current number of "Art," the American Federation of Art magazine published in Washington, D. C., appears a reproduction of Miss Shore's painting, "The Bullfight," among the loan paintings sent to San Diego for exhibition at the fair. The painting is owned by Mrs. Henry Everett, the Pasadena collector.

Christian Science Lecture Scheduled

"Christian Science: Life Unafraid" is the title of the free lecture to be given Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at Sunset auditorium, under the auspices of the Carmel Christian Science church. The speaker is Dr. John M. Tutt, C. S. B., of Kansas City, Mo. The public is cordially invited to attend.

COMMITTEE NAMED FOR NATIONAL BOOK WEEK

Superintendent O. W. Barderson of Sunset school has appointed as a committee to formulate plans for National Book Week R. J. Gale, chairman, Miss Bernice Riley and Miss Elizabeth Niles. An additional member, representing the P-T. A., will be selected by the president, Miss Clara Kellogg. Emphasis will be placed on listing and considering books and material suitable for use in the social studies.

SLOT MACHINES UNPROFITABLE WITH NEW LAW

PETTY gambling, on slot machines and similar devices, has been considerably curbed since the passage Aug. 7 of an ordinance imposing a license on these small-change traps, a survey here shows. Thomas J. Hefling, deputy license collector, reports that two establishments, one operating two machines and the other one, have paid their annual license. As these were nickel machines, a total of $75 has been paid to the city treasury. All other slot machines, so far as the license collector knows, were removed when the ordinance was passed.

According to the terms of the ordinance, 1-cent machines were to pay $7.50 a year; five-cent ones, $25; $50 for ten-cent machines and $100 for those that take a quarter.

The ordinance has proved a regulatory measure rather than a source of revenue.

Carmel Art Gallery Is Being Redecorated

Carmel art gallery has been closed all this week, for repairs and redecoration of the interior. The main room is being rewalled and draped with monkscloth, which will lighten the room and provide an excellent background for the display of paintings. The ceiling is also being painted a lighter color, so that the entire show room will display a new and shining face. All this will entail considerable expense, but the sound condition of the art association finances is felt to justify it. The expenditure is over and above the $75 or $80 a month which is regularly required to keep the gallery open to the public.

Geo. Young Recovering From Crash Injuries

George Young, popular Carmel business man, who received a broken nose and lacerations in an automobile accident last Sunday morning is able to be about again and will soon be driving again for the Carmel Taxi Service, of which he is proprietor.

Young received his injuries when his car left the road near the Carmelite monastery early Sunday morning. Young, who had been on duty almost continuously for 18 hours, fell asleep at the wheel. His car was a total loss.

MRS. VICTOR McLAGLEN VISITS DOUGLAS SCHOOLS

Mrs. Victor McLaglen of La Canada was a Sunday guest of Douglas schools. She is a hunter trials enthusiast and owns Del Brutus, raised on the Fertig ranch in Carmel valley and entered in the La Jolla hunter trials on Nov. 3.

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! "Trial of Mary Dugan" to Open Tonight

AT 8:30 this evening, the curtain will rise on a thrilling court room scene at the Filmarte theater (the Playhouse, on Monte Verde) when the Carmel Community Players present as the first of the winter productions, Bayard Veiller's mystery melodrama, "The Trial of Mary Dugan." This play is unusual in that during the course of the trial a mystery is also solved. Numerous upsets occur in the carefully planned cases of the prosecution and the defense, as witnesses introduce startling bits of information.

With the set completed and in place in time for all the rehearsals of the last week, and with actual props in use longer than that, this production has been well planned and faithfully rehearsed. With exceptional organizing ability, Harriet Smith, the director, laid all her plans well in advance, accustomed her players to actual production conditions. This, it is expected, will result in an unusually smooth and finished performance.

While the brunt of the production rests upon the three leading characters, Sibyl Leonard, George McMennamin and Byington Ford, the accused woman, the prosecuting attorney and the defense attorney, there are in all nearly 40 people in the cast, many of whom remain on stage throughout. Lucy Bensberg has the dramatic and exacting role of Mrs. Edgar Rice, widow of the murdered man. She has lived in Carmel only a year and a half, and this is her first appearance here. Evert Sholund is the defense attorney who is replaced by Jimmy Dugan, Mary's brother. Eugene Watson is the trial judge.

A bevy of beauties who testify both for and against their accused sister of the chorus, are Hildreth Masten, a sparkling blond; Ruth Austin, the dancer, a glowing brunette, and Janet Neikirk, the recent bride of Thom Neikirk—intermediate in coloring between the other two, so that they make a striking trio.

Milton Latham is the Negro elevator boy of the apartment house in which the murder was committed; Richard Masten is the dumb but conscientious police inspector who investigated the crime; Dr. W. B. Williams, who lives in Carmel and practices as an optometrist in Monterey, has the appropriate role of medical examiner for the court; W. C. Shiels is the finger-print expert who tells who held the knife with which the murder was committed; Ross C. Miller is the precise Fifth avenue tailor who made the murdered man's clothes and knows all about his measurements; Scott Douglass is the clerk who swears in all the witnesses and calls for the jury's verdict; Thom Neikirk is the stenographer, with only a line or two to say, who sits and makes hen-tracks on his notebook all through the trial. Thelma B. Miller is the middle-aged French maid who innocently lets several important cats out of the bag while on the witness stand; Millicent Sears is the court scrub-woman; four court attendants are Eldon Weise, Frank Salazar, Andrew Helgeson and William Bensberg.

Lloyd Weer, also business manager

Druggist Injured By Fall In Store

Critically injured when he slipped and fell last Friday morning, J. W. Claywell, proprietor of the Dolores Pharmacy, is reported as doing nicely and it is expected that he will be released from the Community Hospital within the next two weeks.

Claywell slipped on a floor mat in the rear of his store and fractured his hip so badly that specialists had to be called. His right wrist was also broken.

It was several days before the bone could be set due to high fever and the need of draining. Claywell will be unable to be on duty for at least three months.

Community Chest Adds Health Clinic

Recognizing the urgent need on the Monterey peninsula for a health clinic, based upon a survey of school children now in need of immediate medical and dental attention, the Community Chest has provided for such an institution in setting up its budget this year.

The Community Chest quota for 1936, adopted last week upon recommendation of the finance committee, was set at $29,800.

On Nov. 4 the drive for funds to finance the chest's nine participating agencies during the coming year begins. During that week, a large corps of public-spirited citizens plan to make a house-to-house canvass of all three peninsula cities.

In Carmel, the campaign will be directed by Dr. John R. Gray, assisted by five majors. They are Charles Berkey, James Thoburn, James Cockburn, Byington Ford and James Regan.

Appeal for recognition of the proposed Health Clinic as a chest agency was sponsored by an advisory committee composed of Dr. H. G. Wetherill, Mr. and Mrs. R. Douglas Morrison and Mrs. J. H. Schoeninger. It will have branches in Carmel, Monterey and Pacific Grove.

World-Wide Club Forum Announced

Invitations signed by George E. Simmons have been sent out for weekly forum meetings every Friday afternoon from 2 o'clock to 4, at Hotel La Ribera, under the auspices of the "Men's World-Wide Club." According to the invitation:

This club has only one object, which is to arrange a time and place where men may meet once each week for informal discussion of any and all topics.

No set program for the meeting, but the chairman will suggest topics for consideration. Any man present may suggest a subject of current interest in Carmel, or on the Monterey peninsula, in the State of California, in the United States, or anywhere in the world. Partisan politics will have no place in the meetings. Individual opinions on any phase of any subject are wanted and we will all be benefited by hearing the thoughts of others.

The club as a whole will not vote to approve or disapprove in any case, except on the internal affairs of the club.

TO VISIT KNOX

Miss Mary Elizabeth Douglass will be down from Oakland this weekend to visit her mother, Mrs. Eva Douglass, and to attend "The Trial of Mary Dugan" in which her brother Scott has a role.

Talk on Roses at Garden Section

Clyde Stocking of San Jose was the guest speaker at the first meeting of the Woman's club garden section, the morning of Oct. 17, at the home of Mrs. Alfred Wolff. Mrs. E. H. Yocum, the chairman, presided at the short business session, and introduced the speaker.

Mr. Stocking illustrated his talk on roses and their culture with a magnificent collection of rare blooms brought from his nurseries in San Jose, and each member of the section was presented with a bunch to take home. The talk began with practical advice on the care and culture of roses; the correct method of planting and pruning; soil conditions; and what sprays and fertilizers to use. He recommended a "flotation sulphur" spray for the control of mildew and rust in cool climates.

The very best roses, he said, can only be obtained by getting the best stock. The hole dug for the plant should be 18 inches wide and 18 inches deep. Plenty of cow manure and bone meal should be placed at the bottom of the hole, followed by good soil—adobe or clay, if possible. Roses like a heavy soil, he said, but it must be well-drained. On a cone-shaped mound is placed the rose bush, the roots being spread out carefully. If the roots are too thick, the largest should be cut out, as this is the old wood. The hole is filled in with more good soil, keeping the bud slightly above the surface of the ground.

If roses are planted in a lighter soil, they must be heavily fed. Bone meal in November is good, as it is slow-acting and takes six months to become effective. In January lime-sulphur spray was advised. Roses do not like a draught. They should be planted in the open.

Mr. Stocking finished by giving a long list of roses suitable for this climate, and showed many of the newer roses, some not yet on the market.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Hughes have returned from a trip to San Diego and Ensenada.

Mrs. Robinson Jeffers Presents Talk on Poet Yeats

BEFORE about 50 friends gathered in the studio of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Matthias' cottage in the Highlands Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Robinson Jeffers repeated the talk on William Butler Yeats with which she opened a Yeats exhibit at Mills at the end of September. Or rather than repeating it, she broadened and amplified it, according to those of her auditors who heard both talks, finding an absorbed interest and ready response in the group to whom she talked with informal charm.

Mrs. Jeffers spoke out of a large enthusiasm and long study of the Irish poet, largely extemporaneously. With the exception of Wordsworth, she indicated, no other poet has so clearly enunciated in advance his artistic purpose and hewed so well to the line in his work. "If I can be sincere," he once said, "if I can write naturally, and if God gives me an exciting life, I can be a great poet!"

Beginning to write at a time when Irish poetry was at a low ebb, consisting largely of political doggerel, he was successful in wedding the rich Irish mythology and folklore to landscape, making passionate his political writings.

The "dark, disturbing Cornish blood" of his mother, a fiery-tempered grandfather, an uncle who was an astrologer and another who was mad, were some of the formative factors in his background, Mrs. Jeffers said. In London he came under the influence of Rossetti, Burne-Jones, William Morris and his wife, Pater, and seems to have healthily rejected the "tragic generation," which the speaker likened as a recurrent phenomenon to the "lost generation," the post-war youth. This was perhaps an indication of that capacity to "reject what does not belong to you," that peculiar steadfastness to one's own self, which Mrs. Jeffers described as one of the processes of acquiring a "great personality," which distinguishes Yeats as distinctly as do his great literary gifts.

She told of his founding of the Abbey theater, where not only native drama but his translation of Greek plays were produced, peculiarly appropriate, because the poet believes "that the Greeks, like the Irish, lived more by imagination than by reason."

Deeply entertaining were Mrs. Jeffers' reminiscences of her pilgrimage with her husband to Yeats' beloved tower in Ireland, where they admired and peeped just as so many Carmel pilgrims—more perhaps than the western sky and sea.

Munitions Investigations Topic of Woman's Club Section Talk

FIRST program meeting of the Woman's Club current events section was held Wednesday morning, with Mrs. Lawrence M. Knox, the chairman presenting a well-documented study of munitions investigations and their result in the neutrality legislation and the end of the Congressional session and the president's neutrality proclamation. Mrs. Knox's capable handling of her topic, her evidence of good research technique, and her objective presentation of facts rather than opinion gave reason to believe that the sessions under her leadership will be both stimulating and valuable. A question and discussion period followed her talk.

The famed Fortune article, later reprinted in pamphlet form, the book "Merchants of Death" and other writings setting forth the activities of munitions makers as fomenters of war, were directly responsible for last year's senatorial investigation of American munitions makers, Mrs. Knox said. Public reaction to the disclosures made thus far, she said, has been rather indifferent, but the investigation is not yet ended, and more material may be expected. In England the criticism was made that the investigation was often irrelevant and not always factual, to which the investigators replied that they were interested in "atmosphere" as well as actual occurrences.

The attitude of the munitions makers under investigation was "let's get it over with as quickly and quietly as possible." They had good defense points in that they are an essential unit of national defense, that they must keep their plants in readiness during peace times, which necessitates foreign markets, and building up those markets if they are not normally available. Government control of munitions, they intimated, must necessarily include control of all production, so numerous are the products used in warfare.

Among significant legislation pending Mrs. Knox mentioned the bill to draft all resources in time of war, capital, labor and individuals between the ages of 21 and 31, which latter unpopular provision has already been stricken out; the move to coordinate army and navy under one committee, a bill to refuse federal funds to colleges in which ROTC is compulsory rather than voluntary; the "army and navy interference bill" aiming to control public utterances of officers.

She traced the efforts to bring neutrality legislation before Congress before its close, and acceptance of the bill by the President, with his amendment to the effect that it

Rally of Girl Scouts Tomorrow

IN preparation for Girl Scout week, beginning next Sunday, a rally for all Girl Scouts of the peninsula will be held tomorrow in the beautiful pine woods surrounding Douglas schools at Pebble Beach. Beginning at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and lasting until sundown, there will be games and singing, followed by a campfire in a large stockade suggesting the pioneer days and Indian attacks. Troop leaders will remain for the night, when a special conference will be led by the Scout leader for the peninsula, Miss Kathleen Lydon. All Girl Scouts have been instructed to report to their respective headquarters at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon, where they will find transportation to Pebble Beach.

Throughout next week, all Girl Scouts will appear in uniform. On Sunday, they will attend their respective churches in uniform. Tuesday and Thursday the Monterey troops will hold open house at their headquarters, the historic little adobe which was formerly the first French consulate, on El Estero. At the same hours, the Pacific Grove girls will be "at home" in their house on Junipero street. Thursday and Friday the Carmel Girl Scout house will be open to the public from 4 o'clock to 5.

Saturday, Nov. 2, is designated "registration and thrift day." Each girl scout is to try to earn herself the 50-cent membership fee in the national organization. Girls have applied in advance to parents or council members for any job in which they are capable of earning 25 cents an hour, such as dishwashing, bed-making, cooking, dusting and scrubbing, watering the garden or caring for the baby. A girl proficient in cooking may sell her products to anyone interested in Scouting.

As the birthday of Juliette Low, founder of Scouting, falls at this time of the year, it will also be commemorated throughout the country. As a child she was deeply impressed by the sorrow resulting from the civil war. Later meeting Lord and Lady Baden-Powell in England, respectively founders of the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, she saw the channel through which to put her interest to constructive work. She returned to Savannah and among her own friends organized the first American Girl Scout council. The first troop met under her leadership in March, 1912, and today has grown to an enrollment of 383,000.

Old Landmark Makes Way for New Building

Following demolition of another of the historic old buildings on Ocean avenue, a new business structure is projected for the near future. Wreckers began this week to tear down the small building east of the library, recently vacated by Carol Edwards' Little Shop, which went out of business, Paul's Barber Shop and Smoke Shop, leaving Paul Mercurio and Court Arne homeless for the present, and the Bay Rapid Transit Company stage office, which has moved in with Joe's Taxi in the Dixon real estate office in the same block on Ocean.

A modern shop with apartments upstairs will be built on the site, by M. J. Murphy, Inc., for Charles Fee, the owner.

New Dodge Cars on Display

THE new Dodge for 1936 has been on display for the first time on Monterey peninsula at this week at Voss & Floyd, peninsula distributors. Said Mr. Floyd, manager of the firm located at 600 Munras avenue in Monterey: "Everyone knows the Dodge as the car that has smashed all records for dependability . . . for ability to 'take it' . . . for amazing gas, oil, and upkeep economy. Now Dodge has stepped ahead with sheer breath-taking beauty."

"It is the beauty winner for 1936 indeed," Mr. Floyd continued, "and still embodies every mechanical advantage of the 1935 Dodge and more."

In styling the new car displays a sparkling new radiator grille, torpedo-shaped headlamps mounted in windstream supports which blend into attractive hood louvers, horn housings which match the radiator grille and gracefully curving fenders complete the front ensemble. Its new body styling from its "nose made to cut the wind," back to its sloping rear deck, is at once a combination of harmonious symmetry and streamlined utility. And with body and frame lowered, the entire car presents a snug close-to-the-ground appearance which "marks it as the beauty winner of 1936."

Beneath the hood is the famous Dodge engine which has smashed economy records everywhere. Also pointed out by Mr. Floyd is the following: "Here too, is a car with a combination of driving operations—steering, braking, clutching, shifting, accelerating,—so effortless, so perfectly balanced with one another that driving it is more safe, more thrilling than ever."

The cost is said to be only a few more dollars more than the lowest priced cars, and for those who are interested, open house is now being held where a complete explanation of the many detailed mechanical features may be had.

Donald and George McKenna of Claremont were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Fisher at Highlands Inn last week.

Douglas School Practices Polo

In preparation for the woman's polo tournament to be played at Del Monte Nov. 9 and 10, sponsored by Douglas schools under the auspices of the Women's Polo Association of the Pacific Coast, two practice games were played at last week-end. The girls of Douglas met a team composed of their own alumni Saturday afternoon. Carole Morris and Jean Wilder came down from Stanford for the scrimmage; Mary Jean Sterling and Ruth Appleby came from Salinas. The school team included Barbara Tuttle of San Francisco; Maria Grimstead, Mary Hay Barthelme and Elaine McInerney, all of Beverly Hills. Substitutes were Nancy Tuttle, Gertrude Brawner of Pasadena, Alice Lathrop and Barbara Diggs of Sacramento.

As a preliminary to the Salinas-Del Monte men's game Sunday, the second practice match was held, with Ruth Appleby, Jean Wilder, Mary Jean Sterling and Carole Morris playing for Douglas schools, against a team from Pasatiempo Country Club, made up of Barbara Tuttle, Lois Owens, Elaine McInerney and Mrs. Demming Wheeler.

At the November tournament, Douglas will enter two teams, one in the senior and one in the junior division.

New Williams Home for Hatton Fields

Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams are building a new home in Hatton Fields, an English cottage, as both are Britishers. Dr. Williams, an optometrist with offices in Monterey, was born in Australia; Mrs. Williams was born in London, and true to type of the globe-trotting British, they met in the San Joaquin valley of California. Both are valued members of the community chorus; Mrs. Williams rates as one of the best sight-readers of the chorus so that all the other altos vie for the seats next to her, for her sure help on the pitch when they are a bit hazy. Dr. Williams is an amateur actor; played in "Glory Lane," the last Serra play, and is in the cast of "The Trial of Mary Dugan" this week-end. Their present home is in the Norton cottage on Forest Road; their new house will not be ready for several months. Guy Koeppe designed it and A. C. Stoney is building it.

"Way to Decide Is to Ride," Says W. A. Finney of New Oldsmobile

A WEEK ahead of schedule, the new 1936 Oldsmobile is now on display at the Finney Motor Company in Monterey. "And again," according to W. A. Finney, "Oldsmobile is the car that has everything, including advanced styling, and performance that combines with durability to give the American public the greatest possible value in investment."

"Whether your choice be a six or an eight," Finney continues, "the new Oldsmobile assures you of all that is new and better, all that is modern and proved, every feature you want in a truly fine car; in a word 'the car indeed has everything' and 'the way to decide is to ride.'"

The car is a product of year after year development and as such represents an enviable engineering accomplishment. It is a big car, a fine car, a value car, is equipped with safety glass throughout at no extra cost—and is withal much lower in price than in 1935. It preserves that fine balance between appearance and power, size and economy, speed and safety, comfort and alertness, which results in greatest satisfaction to the owner.

Yet the slogan, "the way to decide is to ride," is indeed a pointed phrase, Mr. Finney says. "For that reason I am making it a point to ask every resident of the Monterey peninsula to come to my show rooms and enjoy a ride in the new Oldsmobile, willingly promising them that they need no high pressure sales talk and no undue urging."

The new car especially emphasizes larger and roomier interiors, with such refinements as pedal and lever openings in the front compartment floor, sealed with fittings and padded floor mat; full width sedan type front seats (in 5-passenger coupes), hand brake lever under the dash; and many other modern interior improvements.

The new cars also feature knee action and the ride stabilizer, together with scientific distribution of weight, super hydraulic brakes, center control steering, synchro-mesh transmission, 90 to 100 horsepower, stronger construction throughout with solid steel turret top.

Still other features include electro hardened aluminum pistons, air-cooled generator, counter-balanced crankshaft, vacuum controlled distributor and fuel saver, and literally dozens of other features which combined, form the car that has everything.

It is impossible to set down in print in a limited space the little and big things which combine to create the 1936 Oldsmobile as the car it is. Again Mr. Finney's invitation is repeated; "Come and see and ride without obligation."

Jennie Louisa Powers Is Called by Death

Passing of another Carmel pioneer was mourned this week, with the death Sunday of Miss Jennie Louisa Powers, at her home on Seventh between Lincoln and Monte Verde. Miss Powers was born in Calaveras county, Jan. 1, 1867, and had lived in California all her life. Until her retirement in 1920, she was a teacher. She was a sister of Frank Powers, co-founder of Carmel with J. Frank Devendorf, and had been associated with the village since its earliest days.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, with T. A. Dorney in charge, followed by cremation in Santa Cruz.

New Fire Commissioner Honored by Firemen

Members of the volunteer fire department held a dinner in connection with their regular weekly meeting last Thursday evening, which was in compliment to Bernard Rowntree, newly-appointed commissioner of fire. Mr. Rowntree gave them a summary of his action thus far in seeking information as to the terms of WPA projects, and the steps necessary to receive approval of the fire house as such a project.

B. W. Adams acted as toastmaster, and Tom Fisher, chief of the Highlands department, gave a humorous talk on "Why are You a Fireman?"

RESTORATION LEADERS HOLD DINNER MEETING

With Bishop Philip Scher, members of the executive committee of the Carmel mission roof restoration campaign met at dinner Wednesday evening at Pine Inn. Bishop Scher explained details of how the money raised will be spent. He will personally supervise reconstruction activities. Present at the dinner in addition to the guest of honor were Allen Griffin, Carmel Martin, Senator E. H. Tickle, Father Michael O'Connell, Arthur A. Allen, John Jordan, Harry Downie and Paul Winslow.

Sunset Basket- Ball Team Wins

At the opening game of the peninsular grammar school basketball season last Friday afternoon the Sunset school lightweight team administered a trouncing to the Oak Grove lightweights to the tune of 40 to 3. The Sunset team, consisting of Maya Miyamoto as captain and left forward, Alex Mayes, right forward, John Tait as center, Bob Frolli, Orval Jones and George De Amara as alternate guards, proved to be both heavier and speedier than the Oak Grove boys.

The heavyweight team did not fare so well in their game, however. They were defeated 20-15, though they held the lead until the fourth quarter when Victor Candia, the only veteran on the team, was disqualified for four personal fouls. The team includes Victor as center and captain, Jim Rand, right forward, Dick and George Crossman, alternating at left forward, Laurence Leidig, right guard, Larry McLaren, left guard.

Harry Turner, former Sunset boy, now a senior at Monterey high school, proved popular and efficient as referee.

Arrangements have been made for two games this afternoon at 4 o'clock, the Sunset light and heavyweights meeting respectively the high school midget team and featherweight team.

Burton Holmes Lectures Sunday

The world-known Burton Holmes, who will probably go down in history as the founder of the now securely established "travel lecture," appears in person in the Sunset School auditorium here Sunday evening next, in a lecture on Ethiopia, illustrated by motion pictures and slides. The lecture will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

Mr. Holmes and his camera have traveled every quarter of the globe, and it is a tribute to his alertness that he should have the very latest pictures taken in Ethiopia. He was in that remote country at the time of the coronation of the present emperor, Haile Selassie, and took a number of pictures then. The others were taken last year. Mr. Holmes has the only recent pictures of Abyssinia which are available.

A number of old friends, who have known Burton Holmes in the East, are looking forward to meeting him again in Carmel.

Allen Griffin, Back From Europe, Brings Graphic Picture of Dictatorships

ALLEN GRIFFIN returned from a summer in Europe bored with the "deadly monotony" of the political news in the press of the dictatorship countries, but with a tolerance for dictatorship that upset some of the Carmel auditors who heard him speak Tuesday evening at Sunset school, inaugurating a series of forum lectures under the adult education program. He was impressed with the physical perfection of German youth, the enthusiasm of the German people for their armed forces, the widespread approval of Hitler and his policies, including Jew-baiting—though he reminded his hearers during the question period that anti-Semitic feeling is age-old in Germany as elsewhere in Europe, has been made political capital by the Nazi party—the desire of the Austrian people to be Nazis, and the happiness of Italian soldiery in the Tyrol.

Very little European news of importance falls to find its way to the press of this country, Mr. Griffin believes, basing his conclusion on contacts with foreign correspondents he talked with in the European capitals.

What has become of the rickety, undernourished war babies of Germany in the war and inflation periods? the speaker wondered. The handsome, eager and alert boys he found swarming on the roads of south Germany showed little trace of these early privations. One of his hearers reminded him that German lads taking to the roads in summer with little in their pockets, an inexhaustible enthusiasm for wayfaring, is not a phenomenon of the Hitler regime, but has been going on at least since 1913. The unification of Germany that Hitler has accomplished Mr. Griffin stressed as one of the best results of his dictatorship.

He intimated that the German-Polish hatchet is well buried; that Germany is not preparing for war in the west, but rather "for whatever may happen to her advantage in the east." Czechoslovakia feels the menace of the desire of Poland and Hungary for contiguous frontiers, he said.

Mr. Griffin quoted an English acquaintance with interests in Italy as saying that the big business men and industrialists would "thank God to be rid of Mussolini." He wondered at this, pointing out that radicals always accuse the industrialists of supplying the sinews of Fascism. Recent magazine articles have hinted that as well as keeping the working class in line, Mussolini has annoyed the industrialists with government red tape and hampered them with his financial policies just enough to sour them on the dictatorship.

At the time of his visit in Austria, correspondents told him that Prince Von Starnburg was unpopular, holding his position only by armed force. Though all political prisoners are well-treated in Austria, Mr. Griffin learned that Nazis were treated a shade the better; one straw in the wind showing the underlying Austrian Nazi sympathy.

Impressed by the prevalence of troops everywhere, the seething ferment of racial animosities, economic discontent, land-hunger, and other factors indicative of a "big blow-off," Mr. Griffin returned home convinced that only an efficient army and a big navy can see this country through crises to come. Within the next five years, he predicted, civilization may be almost completely destroyed on the European continent. He commended Roosevelt as the first president since the other Roosevelt "who has not done all in his power to sabotage the navy and destroy the morale of the army."

Questions were freely asked during the half-hour following the speaker's talk, indicating that the forum idea will be eminently successful in Carmel. Called together by newspaper stories of the event only, there were nearly 200 people at the meeting. Fred Bechdoit, the forum leader introduced the speaker as "a good editor because he is essentially a good reporter, with the training to get the facts and the mental capacity to recognize the significance of those facts, the breadth of courage to accept facts even if they are personally distasteful."

As chairman of the organization committee, Mrs. Joseph Schoeninger reported the plan of procedure for the current events forum. If there is an average attendance of 120 people at monthly lectures to be given each first Thursday, it will be possible for the adult education department of the Monterey Union high school district to assume the expense, estimated at $245, of a series of seven lectures. The audience voted approval of her proposition to reimburse the school district of any deficit, providing the attendance falls below that number. This might be done, she said, by charging admission at the final lectures.

The monthly lectures will be held in Sunset auditorium. There will also be three Monday night discussion meetings a month, in the old lunchroom of the school, one preceding and two following the speaker.

The top railing of any balcony shall in no case be less than three feet above the floor of the balcony.

Section 4. That all bay or oriel windows shall be no more than ten feet in width, measured in their extreme, and there shall be an extreme space between such windows, on any building, of not less than five feet, measured laterally between the nearest dimension. All such windows shall be framed in accordance with the framing required in the building of which they may be a part.

Section 5. That belt courses and cornices shall be framed to sustain at least sixty pounds per square foot "live load" in addition to their dead weight per square foot.

Section 6. That movable or adjustable awnings shall be supported on metal frames and shall not extend over the sidewalk or more than two-thirds the width thereof, and shall be at least seven feet in the clear above the sidewalk measuring from the lowest point of the awning.

Section 7. That marquee or any permanent awnings may be erected only by permission of the city council and if allowed by proper majority vote shall be built of fire-proof material and all glass used in construction shall be wire glass not less than one-fourth of an inch in thickness and the entire frame supporting said awnings shall be of structural steel riveted or bolted to reinforce concrete or steel columns. Such permanent awnings shall have a safe live load of at least sixty pounds per square foot in addition to their dead weight.

Section 8. That other than leaders, flower boxes and sills there shall be no projection of any part of any building for a distance of ten feet above the sidewalk line immediately in front of such building, measuring from the highest point of such sidewalk.

Section 9. That all ordinances and parts of ordinances insofar as they conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Section 10. That any person violating any provision hereof shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and on being convicted thereof shall be punishable by a fine not exceeding $300.00 or by imprisonment in the county jail of Monterey County not exceeding 150 days.

Section 11. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force thirty days from and after its final passage and approval.

Better Lamp
for Better Light

Higher standard than the ordinary lamp. 19 1/2 inches from table top to bottom of shade.

What a difference under the shade! The diffusing bowl which eliminates both reflected and direct glare to give light that is soft and glareless.

The shade open at the top and wide at the bottom is the third reason why this revolutionary lamp gives six to ten times as much light as an ordinary lamp.

SEE that the lamps you buy for your home are designed to give you abundant light from proper height and distance so that it is easy for your eyes to see quickly and to read without effort.

Note the distinctive features of the Science of Seeing Study Lamp pictured above. They are the tall standard, the diffusing bowl and the special shade wide at the bottom to give much more useful light than ordinary lamps.

There should be at least one of these new lamps in every home. It helps good eyes to keep good eyesight and aids weakened eyes to see more easily.

Hit By Plymouth

Plymouth for 1936, the car that has reached the "Peak of Perfection" with its roomier more luxurious and safer bodies, its mechanically improved motor, its perfect hydraulic brakes, and "the easiest steering ever made practical," is now on display at the showrooms of E. W. Hicks, Chrysler and Plymouth dealer for Monterey.

According to Mr. Hicks, Plymouth is the only low-priced car with the above features which combine with the ride levelator to create a car which is at once a "softie" and a "Joe Louis" of car-dom.

Mr. Hicks adds that while advance notices have provided him with much confidential information regarding further improvements in the new car, he will not be permitted to divulge the whole story for another week.

The object of this secrecy on the part of the factory is presumed to be intended as an incentive to bring the prospective buyer in to see and to have explained the many points of interest which are too frequently made to sound exaggerated by the use of too many adjectives in print.

It is thought that through inspection and explanation by men who understand these features, the public will learn to better understand just how good they are.

Mr. Hicks' showrooms will remain open evenings and Sunday for the benefit of those who wish a preview of this outstanding car.

Monte Cristo", Now at Filmarte

IN preparation for nearly a year before a single scene was filmed, the million-dollar production of "The Count of Monte Cristo," which begins a three-day showing at the Filmarte Theater today, is hailed as one of the few really big "specials" to come out of Hollywood since the advent of talking pictures, and a forceful answer to the public demand for entertainment of worldwide appeal, for all ages and all tastes.

This lavish filmization of Alexandre Dumas' immortal classic is the most ambitious of screen achievements to date of Reliance Pictures, Inc., the Harry M. Goetz-Edward Small producing organization, releasing through United Artists, which made "I Cover the Waterfront" and "Palooka," the Jimmie Durante laugh riot.

Search for the ideal personality to play the character of Edmond Dantes, familiar to countless readers of the story in every civilized country, finally resulted in the choice of Robert Donat, handsome young English screen and stage star, whom American audiences saw as the dashing Thomas Culpeper in "The Private Life of Henry VIII."

Rowland V. Lee, who had the advantage of being the only Hollywood director who had ever worked with Donat—having gone abroad to direct the young star in "The Night in London"—was signed to handle the megaphone. Ferverell Marley, who has to his credit the photography of such outstanding examples of cinema art as "The House of Rothschild," "The King of Kings," "The Ten Commandments" and others was assigned the camera work.

The conflict of a man attracted to two women of opposite types is the dilemma of the hero of "Unfinished Symphony," the GB musical screen drama which begins a two days run at the Filmarte Theater next Wednesday with a triple-starred cast; headed by Helen Chandler, Hans Ja-ray and Marta Eggerth.

BUYING A GRADER

After a dormant period, the matter of new city street equipment has come to the fore again as an important item of city business. It probably is true that we need a $4000 street grader, though we are not entirely ready to concede this, in a cultural community which cannot afford to give its library adequate funds with which to operate, and cannot afford a $100 subsidy to its orchestra. There is a Carmel faction, large enough to be entitled to consideration, which believes it is more important to underwrite cultural activities than to be equipped with the last word in street grading machinery.

But we will grant for the moment that a street grader is needed. If the matter had been approached in the right way, the machine could have been purchased months ago.

Four companies are competing for the profitable contract to sell a street grader to Carmel: The Cornell Company of Salinas, which handles the Caterpillar Tractor; the Edward R. Bacon Company, distributor of the Wehr machine; the Austin Western Machinery Company, handling the Austin motor grader; and the D. J. Adams Company. Street Commissioner Burge has at different times recommended each of the four machines; first the Wehr machine, then the Caterpillar, then the Austin grader, and last the product of the Adams Company, which came into the picture later.

After making these recommendations he has been each time highly resentful of other members of the council showing any interest in the matter. All he has asked of them is that they vote for the purchase, without inquiring into the merits of the machine or the method of handling the transaction. Seldom has any member of the Carmel council been so bold in demanding absolute authority in the expenditure of so large a sum of money as $4000. It is not in the public interest that any one man should have sole responsibility in any such transaction. Carmel has the right to be assured that the best possible equipment, best adapted to streets of the particular type to be found here, is being purchased. In the light of Mr. Burge's own frequent change of opinion on the matter, it is impossible to agree with Councilman Catlin that Mr. Burge is better capable of making the selection than an advisory committee would be.

Councilman Brownell's suggestion of a civic committee, such as those which have been selected to consider far less expensive matters, was both wise and pertinent.

The grader salesmen, while readily admitting that any one of them would prefer to be handed the contract without the bother of competition, have offered the suggestion that the quickest way of untangling the snarl is to write to the State Highway department for a copy of specifications on which the department buys graders, revamp them to suit local conditions, and then to ask for bids. All four of the companies which have been represented here are reputable firms; all four of them sell to the highway department.

The whole matter needs further study, to determine the type of machine for Carmel, and there are individuals here with sufficient engineering experience to assist in drawing up specifications on which all four companies could then bid.

Scientists have invented a "brain wash." The people who write those modern novels could probably stand a vigorous scrubbing.

OCTOBER UNREST

*Beauty brings little rest these endless days
 Of mid-October calm; in vain I turn
 To book or pastime . . . for the maples burn
 Too bright upon the hillside, and the haze
 Hangs too like dust of gold and chrysoprase
 In cornfield hollows; still are teal and heron
 Startled among the marsh-grass, and the fern
 Still droops demurely in the sumac blaze.
 I cannot rest when every sound remembers
 A minor chord of music: On the hill
 The clack of reapers, and the drowsy low
 Of cattle, and high overhead the shrill
 Of wild geese passing, and the cynic crow,
 Have prophesied too many dead Decembers.*

—OTTO FREUND.

ENIGMA

*Find me in sprays of willow and May birch;
 I am one of Hesiod's immortal three;
 God's kindness you may call me;
 Some name their slender daughters after me.*

*If you have known light music,
 Or bird-wings or skips or little waterfalls,
 Or ferns or the curves of the woodbine,
 You have known me!*

CHARLES BALLARD.

Here's Looking at You

By LOIS COLLINS PALMER

WITH the possible exception of the Oriental coolie class, it is probable that no working group leads quite so gruelling a life as the young American business or professional man of the go-getter type. It isn't his body that is over-taxed, it is his mind and nervous system. In the long run this is just as brutalizing as heavy physical toil. If he makes enough money to retire, which is his objective, he is too often left resourceless, incapable of slowing down, not knowing what to do with himself. We see the results of that here in Carmel, where the most contented and well-balanced of the retired group seem to be the army men, who have been under less nervous strain during their working years, and with enough time to develop interests outside their jobs.

The high-pressure business man lives with his job 24 hours a day, only too often. The worries and nervous strain stay with him at home. Which is the reason many of them drink too much; it is the only effective way they know of relaxation.

We know a better way than that, but it is down an avenue closed to too many of our poor go-getters. The best way we know to forget the cares and trials of the day is to toot, saw or pound on some musical instrument. The more expertly it is done, of course, the greater the pleasure, both to the performer and those who are obliged to listen. It may not be wise for an adult who has never had musical training to try to master an instrument; that is just an added nervous strain. But if he has been equipped in childhood and his student years to appreciate music and to want to make music, it offers a resource of inestimable consolation later.

We are told that piano sales have been on the continual increase since 1931. This indicates a return of music-making to the home, result partly of the radio, which has increased appreciation of music, but more particularly to public school bands and orchestras. There is a theory that children have now a spontaneous interest in making music.

This will be a wonderful thing for the next generation of go-getters. Music will not seem a strange, foreign thing to them. Let your high-pressure salesman sit down at the piano and enjoy the great experience of reading through an unfamiliar Beethoven sonata, for instance, and we can positively guarantee he will be carried realms away from his work-a-day world; go to bed and sleep sweetly, and awake next morning, refreshed, clear-eyed, and without the cobwebby aftermath of alcoholic relaxation.

FIREHOUSE NEED STRESSED

A fire which was the result either of gross carelessness or of incendiary intent was discovered by vigilant firemen in the shed at the rear of the rickety old fire house last Thursday evening. A faint smouldering smell penetrated to the firehouse itself, and might have passed unnoticed save to men who have the danger of fire more or less continually on their minds. In the shed, not a dozen feet behind the costly fire apparatus, firemen found a pile of sawdust, and in the center of it an unconsumed cork cigaret tip. Finding it hard to believe that anyone would be such a fool as to accidentally toss a cigaret butt into a heap of sawdust, they naturally wondered if anyone had deliberately placed it there. The sawdust had smouldered for some time, but the fire was discovered before it had a chance to do any damage.

All this points to the need of a favorable vote on the proposition of building a fireproof firehouse. The groundwork is being laid for securing WPA appropriations to carry the major portion of the cost; this is a process that cannot be done in a day, or a week, but as soon as the preliminary steps are in order, the matter should then be submitted to the voters without further delay.

MONTH OF THE CHURCH

It was not widely heralded or raucously proclaimed—but quietly, as things of the spirit ought to function, a movement to devote October to heightened awareness of the church and its place in our community life was spread throughout California.

At the behest of the California Church Council, the governor officially designated this month as one to be devoted to churches—of all sects, all creeds. And despite the scoffers, ever present to mock any sincere effort, this quiet observance will unquestionably draw the approval and participation of many thousands.

Few will be disturbed when the scoffer eagerly points out that religion is a private thing, and that the person who does not attend church regularly is not necessarily a heretic. The many thousands will only smile tolerantly, having known these things all along, and having known that those things are not incompatible with the church and its honest labor in behalf of mankind.

Strangely, the month opened shortly before a minister in the bay area, in a letter to President Roosevelt, proclaimed that the church of his creed had failed the nation in its hour of need. This letter, widely publicized, aroused something of a storm within, stirring many voices to assert that the church of his creed has not failed.

At any rate, this month is a good time to be reminded of America's ideal of religious tolerance, now when it is so bitterly disregarded elsewhere in the world; and it is a good time to be reminded of the worthiness of the church's part in charity, so heavily called upon today.

Once more The Pine Cone has broken into a national publication, New Yorker this time, but alas, only as the subject of a jape. As New Yorker's humor is tenuous and fluid, far beyond our poor power to add or detract, we will not attempt to quote it. The exhibit is posted in The Pine Cone office, where our friends may read it. Our enemies, if any, would not understand it anyway.

Final Drive for Mission Roof Fund Is Launched

ABOUT 40 people gathered at Pine Inn for luncheon Tuesday, summoned by rather mysteriously worded telegrams, to hear plans announced for an immediate and final campaign to raise funds for the restoration of the roof of Carmel mission. The plan has the approval of Bishop Philip Scher and his promise to act as trustee of the fund, as well as an assurance that this will be the last such appeal to be made.

Signing the invitational telegram were the following campaign committee members: John Jordan, who presided at the lunch; John Catlin, George Marion, Perry Newberry, Doc Staniford, James Cockburn, Byington Ford, Leo MacNeil, Walter Gaddum, Fredric Burt, Helen Ware, Mary Hooper, and Ethel P. Young.

The plan of the campaign was explained by Arthur A. Allen, who is managing it. With $2300 raised by other methods now in the treasury, and placed in a trust fund with the Bank of Carmel Wednesday by Bishop Scher personally, about $7000 more is needed, every cent of which will be devoted to restoring the roof. A permanent committee including Allen Griffin, S. F. B. Morse, Carmel Martin, Mrs. Sidney Fish and Senator E. H. Tickle has been formed, which will later outline a method for restoring the old mission quadrange, in an authentic and sincere manner, which will result in Carmel being the only California mission restored in absolute authenticity, without modernization.

The speaker said that he and Mrs. Allen had prepared as a gift a memorial book in which donors would be asked to inscribe their names.

The book, beautifully bound to withstand the ages, will be a permanent record for the mission archives and will be a personal monument for those who sign.

Harry Downie, mission curator, had a small model of the mission on which he demonstrated the false line given to the roof in the restoration of the '80s, told how the old shingle roof is leaking to an alarming extent, permitting the winter rains to deaken the walls and buttresses. A tile roof, following the original pitch and restoring the oval shape to the ceiling is planned.

Father Michael O'Connell read the letter of Bishop Scher, and gave the additional information that the church has spent $8,150 in restoration activities recently, that the padres' cell, now being rebuilt, is at very small cost, due to the fact that adobe bricks are being made on the mission grounds, Mr. Downie himself performing much of the work.

C. L. Berkey of the Bank of Carmel explained the manner in which the trust will be handled; Dr. John R. Gray traced the history of the early mission activities in the United States and named Carmel mission as "one of the old things that should be preserved."

James Thoburn stressed the emergency nature of the present campaign, urged that it be done in a hurry, before the rains set in. Doc Staniford, a native son, urged attention to "the bigger things of life," such as devotion to the fine old historic monument, irrespective of creed; Harold Nielsen gave the blessing of the Business Association to the undertaking. H. C. Overin promised cooperation, and George Marion rounded off with brevity: "There is nothing I can say on this subject that every Carmelite doesn't already know, so why waste valuable time?"

HABIT OF THOUGHT

Professor Cockerell says: "The scientific habit of thought, so foreign to the politician, should be a great asset in the study of social problems. Yet it always teaches caution, and warns us of the danger of reaching conclusions without adequate researches."

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

This Committee is a permanent organization. The names of its members are given in accompanying literature. It has requested me to become a member and to give permission for a campaign to raise funds for restoration purposes.

In 1884, a campaign for Mission Restoration made it possible to erect a temporary roof over the ancient structure. After the World War and prior to 1930 in two campaigns sufficient money was raised to construct the so-called "Sarcophagus Room." Since 1930, the Church, without asking help from the general public has been able to expend $8,150.00 in restoration work at Carmel.

At the present time, the old roof is in a miserable condition and must be replaced. This consideration has determined me to grant the request of the Committee for a campaign to raise the needed sum. This permission I give at this time, but I wish it clearly understood that this shall be the last general campaign for reconstruction funds. I see no reason to doubt but that once the old memorial is well roofed, the local authorities with the aid of tourists and pageant receipts shall be able not only to maintain the place in good order, but in time to rebuild the quadrangle along its original lines.

It is most important that the roof be replaced just as it was originally. An exact replica has therefore been prepared by Mr. Harry Downey. This has formed the guide for the plans, which also are already complete. Local activities have made available a fund of $2,300.00 and with this, work has already commenced. The hand and mill work necessary to prepare the arch segments and beams shall be finished about December 15th. I feel confident that by that time enough money shall have been raised by the campaign to remove the old roof, repair the top of the walls, bind them together, and put up the super-structure.

In order that the friends of this historic monument may have no misgivings as to the purposes for which the money will be used, all payments are to be made to the Roman Catholic Bishop of Monterey-Fresno, in whose name the Mission stands. The money will be deposited in Trust with the Bank of Carmel and shall be withdrawn only with my signature and for those purposes for which the money was given.

I, consequently, recommend to your kind reception this committee. I am sure that the drive will be successful and that it will result in preserving and revivifying for the people of California its most glorious historical treasure.

Most respectfully yours,

PHILIP G. SCHER,
Bishop of Monterey-Fresno.
